• The formal annual review of Statements of SEN or Education, Health and Care Plans through a meeting with parents and outside agencies.

The school employs other staff to meet the needs of children within the school. Staffing requirements will vary according to such need at any given time.

Providing the graduated response: School Support

The school views the identification and assessment of a child's educational needs as a positive process to be undertaken in partnership with parents. Identifying a child as experiencing special educational needs enables them to be well supported to achieve their full potential through a process of planning, action, monitoring and review.

All staff are responsible for identifying pupils with special educational needs. The Inclusion Leader meets with all class teachers termly and works with the staff to ensure that those pupils who may need additional or different support are identified at an early stage. In addition, the school uses assessment and tracking data to identify children in need of support.

Parents may also raise concerns regarding their child's progress. The school will respond to concerns raised by assessing the child's level of attainment and progress. The Inclusion Leader will then meet with the parents and class teacher to discuss the outcome of the assessments and discuss next steps, including how the child's needs can be met within school and if additional or different provision is required. The school aims to fully involve children and their parents at all stages of the process.

It is normal practice in class to differentiate work and most children's needs can be met through differentiation and high quality teaching. This may involve teachers adapting what they do and having different approaches to meet different learning styles, personalised learning arrangements for different pupils and a range of interventions normally provided by the school.

Some children may benefit from one of the national catch-up programmes for numeracy, reading and writing, or from intervention to meet speech and language, occupational therapy, handwriting and social, emotional and mental health needs. The class teacher, in consultation with parents and the Inclusion Leader will write an individual learning plan. Informal advice and information may be sought from outside agencies. The learning plan will set goals and outcomes for the pupils and includes:

- the child's views
- success criteria
- next steps.

The learning plan will be reviewed termly by the class teacher and parents, and the outcomes recorded. If a child has made significant progress the special educational provision can be ceased through joint agreement at a review meeting with the Inclusion Leader.

The school may seek further advice and support from outside professionals or agencies. Once the professionals are involved with the pupil their advice will be incorporated into the individual learning plan and these professionals will be invited to contribute to the monitoring and review of progress.

Involvement of outside agencies will continue as long as the agency believes they can contribute to the child's progress. Decisions to discharge a child are made by the outside practitioner but are discussed with the school and with parents at a termly review meeting.

In the case of a very small number of pupils where there is still insufficient progress despite additional or different interventions and support being in place and reviewed over time, the school may apply, with parental consent, to the local authority for a statutory assessment of their needs. Pupils and parents will be fully involved and kept informed. The local authority may accept or reject an application for statutory assessment. Where the local authority agrees to assess a pupil's needs this may result in the local authority drawing up an Education, Health and Care Plan.

The Role of the Governing Body

The role of the Governing Body has due regard to the Code of Practice when carrying out its duties to all pupils with SEND.

The Governing Body has identified a governor to have specific oversight of the schools provision of SEND. The person responsible is the lead governor for SEND.

The lead governor meets with the SENDCo to keep abreast of SEND throughout the school and provides support and guidance.

The Head teacher informs the Governing Body of how funding allocated to support SEND has been employed.

Parental Involvement

Parents are closely involved in meeting the needs of their child.

Parents can choose to make a voluntary contribution to resources and provision required to meet an exceptional need.
